

SEN LEARNING SUPPORT ASSISTANT

OLIVER

DEGREE	First Class Psychology Degree– University of Leicester
A-LEVELS	Psychology A, History A, English Literature A
GCSES	9 A* - C including English A*, Maths A, Science B
EXPERIENCE	Has mentored young offenders alongside SOVA & the Leicester Probation Service.
EXTRA-CURRICULAR INTERESTS	Hiking, Painting, Supporting the community through volunteer work and charity.
FUTURE GOALS	Aspiring Educational Psychologist / Teacher / Senco
DESCRIBED AS	Compassionate – Driven – Pro-Active

BIOGRAPHY

Oliver is committed to playing an active role in education as an Educational Psychologist / Primary School Teacher or SENCo and aims to improve the academic potential, mental wellbeing and development of children in the local community. He is a driven and passionate worker who can utilise his multidisciplinary knowledge to facilitate well-rounded academic achievement in students.

Oliver's qualification as a psychology graduate outlines him as an ideal candidate for working with young children. He possesses a great degree of efficacy in understanding developmental psychology and the importance of substantial support during the formative years of childhood. His passion for psychology and the understanding of the brain and behaviour resonates with his commitment to education and provides him with a reliable philosophy for interacting with and providing support to others, including those with SEN. Primarily, his philosophy for education is rooted in compassion, understanding and mutual respect as these qualities have been shown to yield significant benefits for the development of young minds. His academic endeavours in psychology have informed his approach not only to young adults, but to the wider community, making him a capable and resilient role model.

STEP INTO → TEACHING

